

Give and Take: Supporting your dog on a long lead

Two-day workshop on the 16th and 17th March 2019 and 31st August and 1st September 2019 with follow-up dates for practical experience, building on the content of the workshop.

There will be an introductory theoretical session, including

- canine body language,
- how we use our own body language to support our dog,
- how dogs naturally use the environment to orientate and to communicate with each other,
- the needs of both people and dogs on a walk, and
- long-lead technique (practising with each other so we can feel what the dog feels).
- Practical work with the dogs on a long lead.

There will then be a series of follow-up dates for further practical experience. The content of these practice sessions builds on the weekend workshop and is observation-based, so tailored to each individual dog's needs and skill level. Practical topics include refining the lead-handling technique, choosing the best environment for the dog, seeing other dogs at a distance and walking with other dogs.

Practical work: 3 to 5 times / half day

Required equipment: a well-fitting harness which does not restrict the shoulders or the elbows or impede the dog's natural movement. A non-rubberised 5 metre lead which can glide through the fingers. These can also be purchased from us at the workshop.

For a registration form for the seminar, please write to: office@iscpaustria.eu.

This seminar will take place in Lower Austria, Gleißfeld. Times: 9:30 to 17:00.

Costs:

ISCP Students and ISCP CPD € 170,--

Others € 225,--

Practical work: € 35,-- / session